Bird

All Parrot Rescue

We are all in this together. We are a husband and wife team who share a love for unwanted, abused and neglected parrots. Steve and Sonya Brewer have set out to help all birds in need. We are glad you are visiting our site.

Mollywood Avian Sanctuary

Our mission is to provide a permanent, safe and loving home and future for all psittacine species [hookbill parrots] that are free from contagious diseases. Lifetime sanctuary care in a natural environment is often the best option for displaced, abused or mentally ill captive parrots that have failed to thrive in a single family home.

Zazu's House Parrot Sanctuary

Our mission is to make this their last home. No bird will be bought or sold. We believe Macaws are best with other Macaws. We will work with any parrot owner to find and be the final home.

Everlasting Hope Rescue-Sanctuary

The goal of our organization is to help homeless, helpless parrots. Gerald Evans and Kim Matzen are the Founder and Co-founder of Everlasting Hope Rescue-Sanctuary. Our greatest desire is to try to help educate the public about the responsibility of having a bird as a companion.

Cat

South County Cats

Based in the Maple Valley area in Washington State, we are an all volunteer, 501(c)(3) registered non-profit organization.

Our mission is to reduce euthanasia rates at our local shelters. We provide spay/neuter assistance, as well as supporting cats that fall outside the scope of many shelters – those often considered “unadoptable.”

Seattle Persian and Himalayan Rescue

Seattle Persian and Himalayan Rescue focuses on Persians not only because they need us, but also because they are highly adoptable due to their popularity. By focusing on highly adoptable cats, we are able to achieve a very high number of adoptions per year, and thus are able to save the most cats with the few resources we have available.

Dog

Old Dog Haven

We are a network of private homes helping Western Washington's homeless senior dogs. Old Dog Haven has no shelter or kennel. All our dogs live as members of a family. We are caring for over 250 dogs at a time in our foster homes. We focus on the oldest dogs left at shelters, but occasionally we can take a dog directly from the owner. Dogs in good health with reasonable life expectancy are adopted out; the rest are loved and cared for in a Final Refuge foster home for as long as they have good quality of life.

Ferret

Washington Ferret Rescue and Shelter

The shelter is entirely supported by donations. On any given day, the emotions range from great big smiles over a successful adoption or nursing a severely ill or injured animal back to health, to grief at the loss of those who couldn't be rescued in time or who waited in vain for their own "forever home." In all cases, ferrets are given the loving care they deserve by people who are committed to giving them the best possible quality of life. Our philosophy is no-kill. The work - all volunteer - is round-the-clock, 24/7.

Guinea Pig

Foggy Creek Cavy Rescue

Foggy Creek Cavy Rescue is a home-based guinea pig rescue located in Auburn, Washington. I take in guinea pigs that people can no longer take care of, and adopt them out to loving homes.

All Animal

Animal World Rescue

Animal World Rescue (AWR or herein referred to as “the organization”) is a non-profit, no kill, animal rescue, and sanctuary for any and all abandoned animals. The mission of AWR is to rehabilitate abused, neglected, abandoned animals while providing stimulating, healthy, loving temporary homes at the center or with foster families until the animals can be placed in forever homes. AWR will promote the spaying and neutering of animals. AWR promotes responsible pet ownership, the humane treatment of all animals, and provides community classes regarding proper animal care and training.
